

Composer: Lyndsey de Paul, Ron Roker
Arranger: Caroline Hall

Storm in a Teacup

Pitter patter, pitter patter, pitter patter,
Pitter patter, pitter patter, pitter patter,
Pitter patter, pitter patter, pitter patter,
Pitter patter, pitter patter, pitter patter,

One drop of rain on my window pane
Doesn't mean to say there's a thunder storm coming
The rain may fall for an hour or more but it doesn't matter
You know it doesn't matter

(2 part Harmony) One gentle breeze blowing softly through the trees
Doesn't mean to say there's a hurricane humming
Don't start running every time you hear it coming
'Cos it doesn't matter you know it doesn't matter

One little word that you may have over heard doesn't mean to say that my love for you is dying don't start crying over second hand lying
'cos it doesn't matter, you know it doesn't matter

It's a storm in a teacup
brewing up double over any little trouble
It's a storm in a teacup
It really doesn't matter if it pitter pitter patters all the day

One drop of rain on my window pane
Doesn't mean to say there's a thunder storm coming
The rain may fall for an hour or more but it doesn't matter
You know it doesn't matter

It's a storm in a teacup
Brewing up double over any little trouble
It's a storm in a teacup
It really doesn't matter if it pitter pitter patters all the day